

Willie Stevens Guaranteed Immunity for Confession

Poor Doggy

OFFERED IMMUNITY. State Prosecutor Simpson yesterday guaranteed immunity for Willie Stevens, shown above in three characteristic poses, provided he would confess. Both Willie and Henry Carpender are being held without bail charged with murder of Mrs. Mills and Dr. Hall. (Photo Graphic.)

PINCHED! Whippet, a vagabond, was one of the victims of police orders to clean up stray dogs at Hunters Point (L. I.) precinct. The dog takes a last look before being locked up. (Photo Graphic.)

GRAVE FEAR. When police found a freshly dug grave yesterday at 100 Utica Avenue, where the day before a woman had been murdered, they believed several bodies were buried there. They dug up the entire cellar and tore up all floors in their search. (Graphic.)

CASHING IN! What a field day press agents have had since Rudy began his "battle for life"! Nearly every actress in town has cashed in on her sympathy for the "stricken" sheik. Above are (l. to r.) Charles Kehberger (hospital guard), Kathryn Ray, Mariette O'Brien, Olive McClure, Patricia Caron, Carol Bayer and Corinne Sylvae, who took flowers to Rudy yesterday. (Graphic.)

NEAR-TRAGEDY resulted from escaping gas in the home of Vincenzo Villanova, at 114 64th St., Brooklyn, yesterday. Eight persons were overcome. The cries of Hedalo (seated on mother's knee) aroused the parents and all escaped.

RECOVERING. Patrolman James A. Broderick, who was shot three times in battle with bandits, said to be the "cry babies," will recuperate at the Tannersville police camp. Photo shows (l. to r.) John Broderick, James Broderick and Oscar Herold.
